

FCC:

It is none of FCC's, or the Government's business, how I get and who I get my weather and traffic information from. I want my information when I want it, not when FM and AM stations feel like giving it. They don't give this information out all day long anyway. They only do it in the morning and afternoon rushes. This is a big convenience to the travelling public. My time is important to me, and time is money. Stop the nonsense politics! Find something more constructive to do with your time and energy.

John R. Retherford